Chichin Itza was not as big as Tikal, but it is the home of the Pyramid of the Sun, one of the most famous Maya structures still standing and a major tourist attraction today. Tulum was one of the smallest cities. It was located on the east coast. Most Maya towns were not surrounded by a wall as they were in other ancient cultures. But Tulum was not only walled, it was fortified with additional protective barriers.

Cities - The Maya Empire for Kids

Maya cities were the centres of population of the pre-Columbian Maya civilization of Mesoamerica. They served the specialised roles of administration, commerce, manufacturing and religion that characterised ancient cities worldwide. Maya cities tended to be more dispersed than cities in other societies, even within Mesoamerica, as a result of adaptation to a lowland tropical environment that allowed food production amidst areas dedicated to other activities. They lacked the grid plans of the high

Other important Maya city-states include Coba, Uxmal, Mayapan, Tulum, Palenque, and Kabah. Palenque was once known as the "Red City" because its buildings were all painted red. Much is known about the kings of Tikal including some of their interesting names such as Jaguar Paw, Curl Head, Shield Skull, and Double Bird.

Maya Civilization for Kids: Sites and Cities

Cities of the ancient Maya. Maya cities were the administrative and ritual centres for regions which included the city itself and an agricultural hinterland. The largest Maya cities were home to many people. At the major centre of Tikal, for example, within a six-square-mile area, there were over 10,000 individual structures ranging from temple-pyramids to thatched-roof huts.
